A Game of Speculation. Barely two years have elapsed since the world was electrified by the marvellous tales of fortune's frolics in Bombay. Sheer accident-the breaking out of the civil war in America and the consequent cessation of the cotton supply-had been the means, in a few months, of producing an era of prosperity and affluence unparalelled in the history of commerce. Cotton growers and brokers in the Presidency revelled in riches acquired without any skill or merit on their part, as if the "Heavens had rained wealth upon them." The quantity of cotton shipped in 1864-5 did not exceed the shipments of 1860-1 by more than soven per cent., while the value rose during the same period from £7,000,000 to £30,375,000—a clear gain of over 300 per cent. With this enormous addition to the wealth of the country, it is not to be wendered at that those upon whom the fates smiled so auspiciously should drink deep of the drogs of excitement, and not knowing how to employ their suddenly acquired for tunes should be guilty of placing golden thres upon their carriage whoels and gratifying freaks and fancies of the wildest and most ostentatious character; but a speculation frenzy soon seized upon the people, and spread its baneful influences among all classes.

To General Thos. F. Meagher—Dear Size—Your strage letter of the same date berewith has been duly received. You assume that I "wrote and published" the same date berewith has been duly received. You assume that I "wrote and published" the same date berewith has been duly received. You assume that I "wrote and published" the same date berewith has been duly received. You assume that I "wrote and published" the ricle to which you refer. I have been guilty of circulating the alleged falsifications in regard to my interview with Dr Daems. I desire to inform you that I cannot comply with any of the requests or demands which any of the requests or demands the " Heavens had rained wealth upon visionary land companies actually realised in some instances a promium of £5,500. The condition of affairs at this time and the collapse that inevitably ensued are thus vividly depicted by the London Spectator. The petty gains of honest industry were despised, prudence, forethought, experience were forgotten; and all ranks and classes, abandoning their proper business, madly jostled one another in business, madly jostled one another in the furious race for wealth. Society was utterly dislocated; no one regarded the customary restraints of dignity and self-respect; Government servants high in station bowed the knee to successful native speculators, and solicited the company of European adventurers, whom in former years hey would not have deigned to speak to; and even English ladies might sometimes be seen canvassing promoters, in order to obtain the gift of a few shares for their liege lords. The by sand the first has a letter of the share market, that he affectionately warned his hearers not to be dissatisfied with the 'allotments of Providence.' Such was the rage for new companies, and ultimately the carelessness how they were designated, that by the end of the year 1864 there were about thirty banks and almost twice as many financial associations in the city of Bombay, popular insanity may be supposed to cial associations in the city of Bombay, all, with two or three honorable exceptions, having no other business to do than that of buying and selling one another's shares. When the crash came (and, by a singular fatality, the first message received in Bombay with."

Then don't let Mr Poley in lor your life" said Barrington, "for it is not a hare or a brace of ducks he has come to present me with." through the Persian Gulf cable announced the approaching termination of the American war), the collapse was sudden and awful, in proportion to the wildness of the previous excitement. Xerxes' host :-· He counted them at break of day; And, when the sun set, where were they? What a lesson does "this strange eventful history" teach us! We are accustomed to smile pitifully upon the ignorance and gullibility of our forefathers who became the victims of the great: "South Sea Bubble" and other similar swindles, but the present on lightened age has proved itself to be equally wanting in judgment and as susceptive of deception and fraud as were they. On this very coast we have seen the mischievous results of a unreal speculative mining mania, and the abuses that may be made of fortune's favors, while, to come nearer home, may we not justly consider whether our present retrogression and depression are not the natural effects of causes of a closely similar nature? similar swindles, but the present en-

Public Morals in Montana.

The Montana Post, of the 20th ult., heads the following correspondence with "Pistols and Coffee for Two." "General" Meagher, the challenging party, who meets with the excellent rebuff from the editor, is the wellknown expatriated rebel who was sent by the British Government in 1848 to Van Dieman's Land, and having broken his parole of honor, escaped to the States, where he has since been cutting all kinds of capers. He is Territorial Secretary, and was for a while Acting Governor of Montana:

An amusing story of Daines Barrington An amusing story of Danies Barrington, recorder of Bristol, is related by one of the English press. Having to appear for a plaintiff in a case at Clonmel, he let into the defendant in unmeasured terms. The individual inveighed against not being present, only heard of the invectives. After Barrington, however, had got back to Dublin, the defendant a Timperary man named Feller.

"'No," answered the man.
"Then give him my compliments, and say Mr Foley-he'll know the name—will be glad to see him."

The valet went up stairs and told his master, who was in bed, the purpose of his visit.
"Then don't let Mr Foley in for your life" and Rarrington. "for it is not a hare or a

"Get up, Mr Barrington; for, in bed or out of bed, I have not the pluck to hurt so droll a heart."

The result was that in less than an hour afterwards Daines and his intended murderer were sitting down to a warm breakfast, the latter only intent upon assaulting a dish of smoking chops. of smoking chops.

Speech of Maximillian.

CITY OF MEXICO, September, 19, 1866. The anniversary of Mexican independence, 16th more than usual magnificence. In the morning the Emperor, together with the royal household, civil and military dignitaries, foreign Ministers and others, celebrated high mass at the cathedral. The inmense building was crowded to its utmose capacity, and the ceremonies were of the most imposing character. Aften the services at the capacity and the ceremonies were of the most imposing character. After the services at the cathedral were over a grand review was held upon the Plaza de las armas of all the troops, native and foreign. In the afternoon the theatres were thrown open gratis to the people, and about ten thousand were treated to a bull fight, the first which has taken place in this girl for its months. In the arming in this city for six months. In the evening the Grand Plaza was crowded, principally by the lower order, to witness the display of fireworks.

In the morning the Emperor received at In the morning the Emperor received at the Palace a large deputation of citizens, the foreign Embassies and Consuls, military officers, Council of State, the cabinet and city officials. Señor Lacunsa, President of the Council of State, in behalf of the deputation, a feeling and highly patriotic address to the Emperor, to which his Majesty replied as follows:

"MEXICANS—Now, for the third time as "MEXICANS—Now, for the third time as chief of the nation, I celebrate with you, with pleasure and enthusiasm, our great and glorious family festival. In these days of patriotic remembrances it is always a necessity on my part to address frank and faithful words to my patriotic fellow-citizens, and to participate with them in the general rejoicings. Fifty-six years have passed since was heard the first cry of our nation's new birth. It is a half century during which Mexico has been struggling for her independence and pacific consolidation. The time seems long, undoubtedly, for patriotism is justly impapacific consolidation. In a time seems long, undoubtedly, for patriotism is justly impatient; but in the history of a people just coming into life it is simply the period of a severe apprenticeship which every nation must undergo it it wishes to be one day great and powerful. Without blood and without in adverse moments that a true Hapsburg abandons his post. The majority of the nation elected me to defend its most sacred rights against the enemies of order, property and true independence. The Almighty should therefore protect us, it being a sacred truth that the voice of the people is the voice of God. This was shown in a miraculc us manner at the time of our first national riscipations in the result of the property of the ing; it will be shown in the present regene-ration. The great heroes of our country look upon our efforts. Let us follow their immortal examples without vacillation, withou distrust; and to us will then belong the en viable task of consolidating and drowning the en-viable task of consolidating and crowning the work of ind-pendence, which they began with their precious blood.

"Mexicans! long live our independence and the memory of its glorious martyrs!"

ADDITIONAL FROM KOOTENAY AND BIG

Bend .- Mr Stevens, who arrived last evening from Kootenay, reports that the new shaft of the Deep Shaft Company was down ten feet when he left Fisherville. The weather was mild. Oppenheimer's first train was met three miles this side of Kootenay, and the others were within two or three days' journey of that place. In crossing Goat River, two of the packers and one animal were swept away by the current. The packers were saved by catching hold of drift-wood, but the horse was lost. The total loss of animals by the train during the trip was only four or five. At Forts Shepherd and Colville the people were quite excited by the discoveries on Upper Arrow Lake. About 30 miners were reported at work there, and one man

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellowetitzens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cuses to be found of the following complaints: omplaints:

DEBILITY, DYSFEISIA AND INDIGESTION, ERVSTIELAS, ROSE, OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints grising from Impurity of the Blood.

and indeed the whole class of complaints grising from Impurity of the Bood.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of they year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bad. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul cruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, cruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; bit with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, parily because the dring alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, prefereding to be conventicated extracts of it, contain but linke of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled cause inany préparations, pretending to be con-centrated extruets of it, comain but luite of the virue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the seek, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla, which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has vir-tues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete cradication from the sys-tem, the remedy should be judiciously taken ac-cording to directions on the bottle.

) PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO.,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has won for itself such a renown for the cure of every variety of Throat and Lung Complaint, that it is entirely unnecessary for us to recommend the evidence of its virtues, wherever it has been employed. As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all it has ever been found to do.

FOR THE CURE OF

Price 25 cents per Box; Five Boxes for $1.00.
Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of these remedies, but our space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Azents below named furnish gratis our American Athanac in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the above complaints, and the treatment that should be followed for their cure. Do not be put off by unprincipaled dealers with other preparations they make more profit on. Demand Avice's, and take no others. The sick want the best ald there is for them, and they should have it.
